I really enjoyed the class. Dr. Chung is very knowledgeable and I really liked that he explained everything very well. The tests are somewhat hard but it is good because it challenges us to prepare better for next exam. And it makes us learn more which in my opinion is the primary reason to attend college. I learned many new exciting computer skills and concepts.

Student Comments on Wingyan Chung's teaching

- Professor Chung is always eager to help out his students when they are in need. He shows a large amount of care for his students in understanding the course materials. The effort he invests in the class motivates me to work harder as a student to show him that his effort is not going to waste. (1 Count)
- Professor Chung is probably one of the most well informed professors when it come to information about databases. He seems to know everything that you would ever want to know and probably much more. In class he'd demonstrate interviews he's had with famous figures such as Barak Obama, and Osama Bin Laden, in order to further help us understand course material. (1 Count)
- Professor Chung was an extremely dedicated professor and one can tell that he is a brilliant and very well educated individual. He was always enthusiastic about motivating his students and one can tell that he had a genuine desire to instill knowledge upon his pupils. Professor Chung was a very fair grader. For example, on the Midterm, I was rushed for time and I had written quite messy, but I really appreciated how fairly he graded some of my problems and I was touched that he took into account the amount of effort that a student might have spent both in studying for and in conducting the exam itself. It really shows a lot about a teacher when he/she can understand if a student is making a genuine effort and does not get side tracked about smaller nuances. This showed me that he appreciated a student's effort and motivated me to continually try my best in the class. Professor Chung always tried to motivate students through various mediums such as movies and even 'skits' that were very humorous. Although some of the skits are supposed to be veiled in 'secrecy' :), I appreciated the effort and courage that it must have taken to conduct such exercises in front of a class full of students. Overall, I really enjoyed the Professor's teachings and I think that he is an Asset to the Santa Clara Business School and OMIS department. (1 Count)

- He allows us to do work within class time, and gives us the answers for the problems afterwards. (1 Count)
- He brings new perspectives on how to apply this to the real world (1 Count)
- He was very enthusiastic about the subject matter and even went out of his way to make some class sessions funny and enjoyable. Also, the in-class exercises were very helpful. (1 Count)
- He was very enthusiastic and worked hands-on with the students to ensure that they understood the material being taught. (1 Count)
- Homework assignments help with understanding the class lectures, and helps retain the information. (1 Count)
- I found it valuable that the professor had us perform many exercise problems in class so that we could ask questions if we needed to. (1 Count)
- Professor Chung was extremely helpful. When i was struggling in the class, he made the extra effort most professors won't do, and asked me to see him for help! He was easy to learn from and I am glad he taught this course! (1 Count)
- Really means well and wants his students to like the course. He even asked us for anonymous feed back half way through the course so he could fix things that we didn't like. Tries very very hard. (1 Count)
- The exercises posted online were very helpful for retention and studying for tests. (1 Count)

Dir chung,

You are what a professor should be! The superb organization of the course. I learned many more things than anticipated in the beginning of the course. By far the project exposed me to the most about Java. (such as my SQL, NetBeans, 4 different Java books aside from the assigned text.)

Thank you.

Subject: Great class this qtr

Prof. Chung,

I really got a lot out of your class this qtr and I think of all the classes I've taken in the MSIS program- I've liked this the most.
It has inspired me to try to get a role at product marketing where I can get closer to Business Intel work. Ideally there would have been more time to cover more material but I'm going to try and finish the text over the holiday break. I wish SCU MSIS would offer a part two course. (I might get ID3 by then!) ;)

Thanks again for all of your good work and effort to teach a compelling class. See you around campus.

Best,

XX
